

The Max Weber Institute of Sociology at Heidelberg University invites applications for a position (100%) starting, at the earliest, in October 2022 for a period of three years:

Postdoctoral Researcher Sociology (f/m/d)

The position is affiliated with Chair for Empirical Macrosociology (Koenig) and offers the opportunity for academic qualification (R2) within the Chair's research fields.

Your responsibilities:

- You will develop and carry out your own research project
- You will contribute to teaching in sociology (teaching load is 2 hours per week during the semester) and to supervision of undergraduate theses
- Cooperation with the Chair's research team and within the MWI

The following qualifications are required for this position:

- You have obtained an excellent MA degree in sociology or a neighboring field
- You have recently completed your doctoral dissertation in sociology
- You have a global, transnational or comparative research profile
- You show advanced skills in methods of empirical social research
- You are committed to innovative teaching
- You have an excellent command of English and German; additional language or area expertise is an advantage
- You work autonomously and with strong commitment

We offer:

- Intensive individual supervision and coaching of academic work
- Involvement in national and international research networks
- Excellent infrastructure and outstanding career development (e.g. heiTRACKS)

Remuneration is at E 13 TV-L.

Applications should be submitted by 31 August 2022 at the latest, including a letter of interest, CV with a list of publications, diplomas, a two-page research proposal and contact information of two persons who can provide a reference. Please send your application electronically (one pdf-document) to sabine.renninghoff@mwi.uni-heidelberg.de.

Heidelberg University stands for equal opportunities and diversity. Qualified female candidates are especially invited to apply. Disabled persons will be given preference if they are equally qualified. Information on the job advertisements and the collection of personal data is available at www.uni-heidelberg.de/en/job-market.